1. Overview

Every book is a separate project. Inside a project you switch between six sections in the top bar (at the bottom on a phone).

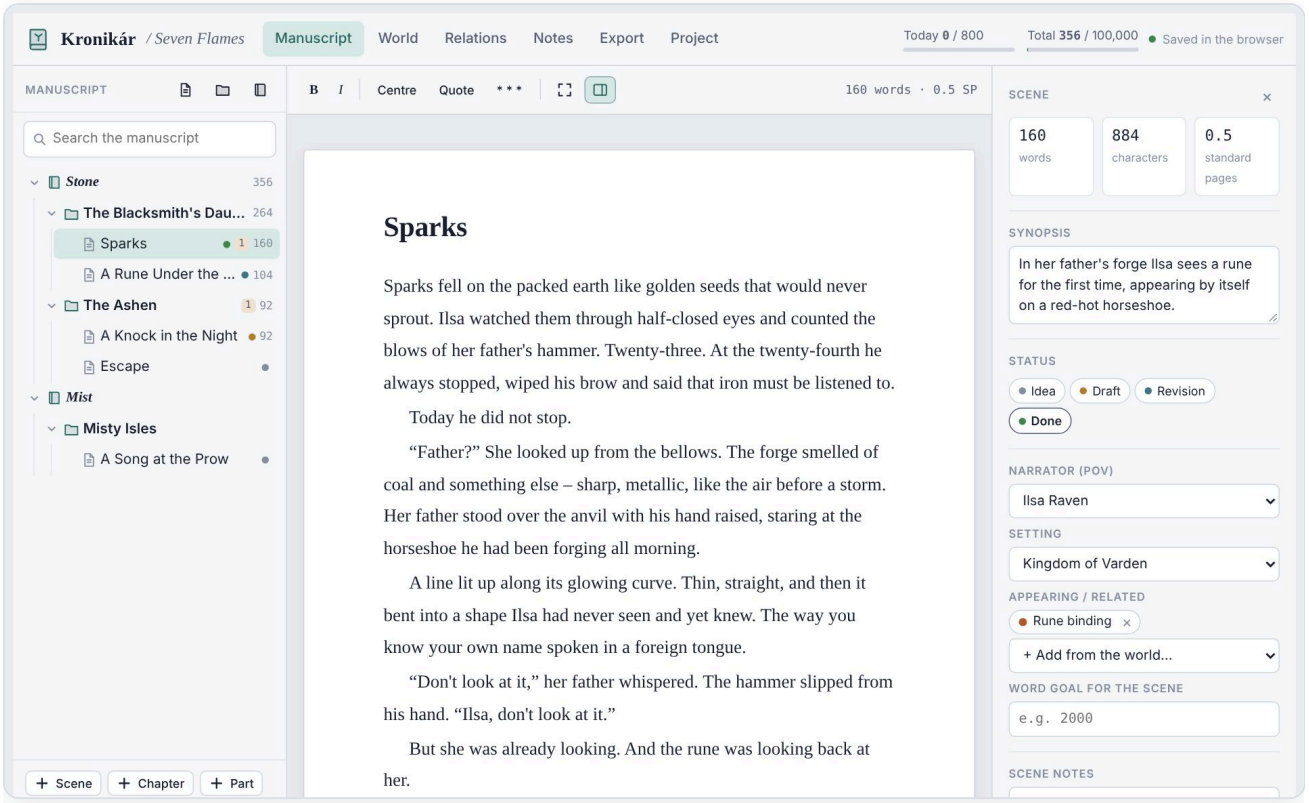

| SECTION | WHAT IT IS FOR |
|---|---|
| Manuscript | writing, the structure of parts, chapters and scenes, the corkboard |
| World | characters, places, races, religions, deities, magic, factions, artefacts, events and your own categories |
| Relations | a map of relationships between world entries, as a network or a tree |
| Notes | sticky notes with categories, optionally attached to chapters |
| Export | PDF and Word – the book, a manuscript for publishers, contents, book description |
| Project | language, quotation marks, goals, statistics and backup |

> START WITH THE SAMPLE
> On the home screen click Sample project. A short fantasy with a world and relationships opens, so you can try everything out.

Projects

- New project – enter the book title, genre and author name.
- Each project card has Backup and Delete buttons. Deleting always asks for confirmation.
- Switch the app language (Slovak / English) at the top right of the home screen or in the Project section.

2. Manuscript

Structure

- The manuscript is made of parts, chapters and scenes. Add them with the + Scene, + Chapter and + Part buttons at the bottom left.
- Change the order by dragging, or in the inspector with Up, Down and Move to....
- The coloured dot next to a scene shows its status, the number on the right its word count. The number in a beige box counts open sticky notes.
- Search the manuscript searches titles, synopses and text.

Writing

- Text is saved as you type; there is nothing to confirm.
- B and I (or `Ctrl+B` and `Ctrl+I`) – bold and italic; Centre – centred paragraph; Quote – a letter or quotation;  – scene break.
- The four-corners icon switches on focus mode without panels. Leave it with `Esc`.
- Quotation marks are typed for you: `"` inserts main quotes, `'` nested ones. Pick the style (American “…”, British ‘…’, Slovak „…“ and more) in the Project section.
- The top right shows the word count and standard pages (SP; 1 standard page = 1,800 characters incl. spaces – a Central European measure).

Inspector

Open the right-hand panel with the panel icon in the editor toolbar. For a scene you can set:

- Synopsis – shown on the corkboard and usable to generate the book synopsis.
- Status – Idea, Draft, Revision, Done.

- Narrator (POV), setting and the world entries appearing in the scene.
- Word goal, scene notes, sticky notes and links.
- Include in export – anything unticked stays out of the book.

Corkboard

Click a chapter or part. Its scenes appear as index cards with synopses and status, as if pinned to a corkboard. Read through shows the whole chapter text at once.

A chapter's corkboard.

3. From a word straight into the world

When you invent a new name while writing, there is no need to stop. Select it with the mouse (on a phone, press and hold) and a small window appears.

A selected word and the window for adding it to the world.

1. Adjust the base form of the name if needed (for example Ilsa's → Ilsa).
2. Choose a category – Character, Place, Race, Deity...
3. Kronikár suggests other forms of the name. Tap to turn wrong ones off; type your own.
4. Choose Save and keep writing or Save and open card.

Close the window with the cross or `Esc`. If the word belongs to an existing entry (a nickname, say), pick it under Is it a form of an existing entry? or via Add as a form of another entry...

WHY NAME FORMS

Using the name forms, an entry's card shows in which scenes the character or place is mentioned (the In the manuscript section).

4. World

World: categories, the entry list and a character card.

Categories

- Built in: lands and places, characters, races and peoples, religions, deities, magic, houses and factions, artefacts, history and events, notes.
- New category – your own category with a name, colour and custom fields (for example Creatures with Habitat, Abilities, Weaknesses).

Entry card

- Name and one sentence on who or what it is.
- Properties – fields depending on the category. Deities and races have a required Kind field with a list or your own value. Custom field adds more.
- Connections – type a relationship (e.g. wields) and pick the other entry. Kronikár suggests fitting relationships for the categories.
- When a relationship stops being true (a character leaves, they fall out), click current to mark it as past, optionally adding when. Then add the new relationship.
- Name forms and nicknames, In the manuscript (where it is mentioned), links (Instagram, YouTube, Spotify, maps...) and free-form notes.

Lower part of the card: name forms with suggestions, links and notes.

5. Relations

The relationship map as a network.

- Network shows the whole world at once. Node size reflects the number of connections.

- Tree grows from a single root – for example a land → its characters → their faith and magic. Pick the root at the top or with Tree from here.
- Coloured filters hide categories; Relationship labels and Past relationships toggle labels and relationships that no longer apply (dashed lines).
- Connect – click two entries and name the relationship.
- Drag nodes with the mouse, the wheel zooms. Clicking an entry opens its connections on the right.

6. Notes

Sticky notes with categories.

- New note adds a note. Type straight into it.
- The category (To do, Idea, Check / research, Fix, Question) sets its colour. Categories lets you rename, recolour or add your own.
- + Attach to chapter... – a note can belong to one or more chapters and scenes, or stay loose.
- The tick marks a note as done. Hide done hides those.
- Filters: by category, by chapter, and text search.
- In the Manuscript, the inspector shows the selected scene's notes (Sticky notes) and lets you add a new one right there.

7. Export

Export: templates, preview and downloads.

Templates

| GROUP | TEMPLATES |
|---|---|
| Printed book | Classic, Chronicle (for fantasy), Elegant, Modern |
| Manuscript for a publisher / agent | Manuscript (standard), Manuscript SK / CZ, US – Shunn, UK – agent, AU – publisher |

CHECK THE GUIDELINES

Manuscript requirements differ between publishers. The templates cover common conventions – always read the specific submission guidelines.

Settings

- Book – title, subtitle, author, genre, contact and book language (it decides between Chapter One and Prvá kapitola, Contents and Obsah).
- Typesetting – page size, font, size, line spacing, margins, alignment, chapter numbering, quotation marks in export, scene break, running head and contents.
- Detailed typesetting and custom templates – indents, spacing, chapter opening (drop cap, small caps), headings, page numbers, chapters on right-hand pages. Save as template keeps them for every project.
- Front matter – dedication and copyright page.

- Book description – logline, blurb and synopsis. The synopsis can be generated from chapter and scene synopses.

What you can download

| OPTION | CONTENTS |
|---|---|
| Whole book | title page, copyright, dedication, contents and text – PDF or Word |
| Text only | chapters without front matter, e.g. a sample of the first chapters |
| Contents only | list of parts and chapters with page numbers |
| Book description | details, logline, blurb and synopsis |
| Other | Markdown (plain text) and a project backup |

8. Project and settings

The Project section.

- App language – Slovak or English. It changes only the app's texts, never your manuscript.
- Quotation marks while writing and Change quotation marks in the whole manuscript to..., which converts text you have already written.
- Goals – total words and words per day. Progress shows in the top bar.
- Statistics – words, standard pages, scenes, world entries, a 30-day writing chart and scene status.
- All links from the whole project in one place, and Download backup.

9. On a phone

Kronikár on a phone: manuscript and world.

- Sections are in the bottom bar. Tapping Manuscript a second time opens or closes the list of chapters and scenes.
- Select a word by pressing and holding. The add-to-world window appears at the opposite edge of the screen so Android's Copy / Paste bar does not cover it.
- Exports are saved to the `exporty` subfolder.

10. Keyboard shortcuts and tips

| KEY | WHAT IT DOES |
|---|---|
| Ctrl+B / Ctrl+I | bold / italic |
| `"` / `'` | main / nested quotation marks in the chosen style |
| Enter in a scene title | jumps into the scene text |
| Esc | leaves focus mode, closes the window for a selected word |

> TIP
> Don't type blank lines between paragraphs – Enter starts a new paragraph, and the export adds indents or spacing according to the template.
